This program will ask the user for a username and password. There will be no checking for the username. The password requirements are at least 1 number, at least 1 upper case letter, at least 1 lower case letter, and at least 5 characters. If they enter a new password that meets these criteria, then they will receive a message telling them their password is good.   If their password does not meet the criteria, they will be prompted to reenter a new password until they meet all 4 conditions.
